President's Reply is Suitable to Germany, Berlin Paper States

Kaiser Formally Admits German Submarine Torpedoed Liner Sussex Without Giving Warning

ASSURES PUNISHMENT OF COMMANDER

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 10.—(By United Press)—President Wilson's brief reply accepting Germany's submarine concessions but rejecting the condition with reference to England, will prove suitable to Germany, the Lokal Anzeiger stated today.

The Lokal Anzeiger did not have the exact contents of the latest communication from Washington before it but was guided by apparently reliable reports of its contents. The Berlin newspapers took the view that President Wilson laid oto much stress on the alleged condition attached to the German concessien but added significantly that President Wilson's answer is "what iwas epxected."

ROBERT J. BENDER

Washington, May 10. — Germany has made good on the first promise in her note accepting American position in the submarine issue, Ambassador Gerard today cabled the state department that the Kaiser has formally admitted a German submarine attacked the channel packet Sussex.

The formal admission to this government Gerard's cable said, is now on its way to Washington. It was not said at the state department whether the German communication would contain anything but acceptance of responsibility for the attack. It was learned later, however, that if the present message does not contain assurances of reparation and ample punishment of the submarine commander, another including such information will be dispatched to Secretary Lansing.

48 MORE BODIES TO BE EXHUMED AT ARCHER HOME

Authorities Expect to Find Home A "Murder Home."

Hartford, Conn., May 10—(By United Press)— Fresh revelations today in the case of Mrs. Amy Archer-Gilligan, proprietor of the Archer home for elderly people at Windsor, accused of poisoning Franklin R. Andrews. an inmate, made probable the exhumation of the bodies of 48 persons who have died there in five years.

Though the authorities withheld direct statement it was learned that they would not be surprised to find the home a "murder home" that compared with the Belle Gunnes murder farm in Indiana. Since the discovery relatives of four inmaets have removed them from the home and others are likely to follow.

Three of the persons who had paid $1,000 cash for the care of three inmates who died since 1911, filed attachments on the home expecting their money back if the inmates were poisoned. Authorities believe they can see the reason for the poisoning by the fact that Mrs. Gilligan would take a person into the home on payment of $1,000 for their keeping the rest of their lives and the more quickly death came the greater her profits .

JUDGE ASKS JURY TO INDICT RIOT LEADERS

Pittsburgh, May 10.—(By United Press)—Judge Ambrose Reid in charging the May grand jury today told that body to fully investigate the fatal Braddock riot of May 2nd and return indictment against its "instigators" and "those who did the rioting." The judge told them that they might never again have such a "sacred duty to perform." He advised them not to deal in any way with charges of "accessory without the fact of murder" upon which several of the rioters arrested were held, but to ascertain who prompted those under arrest to do violence. Some of the mob's leaders were referred to by the judge as "unfortunate" who were urged to endanger life and inflamed to destroy property while they were intoxicated.

New Leviathan of the American Navy.

The Oklahoma, 27,000 tons displacement, 583 feet long, is the new leviathan of the American navy. She has just been commissioned and is ready. The vessel carries ten 14-inch guns like the New York, the Nevada and the Texas, thus making them the greatest battleships in the world with the exception of the fire ships of the Queen Elizabeth type, built by Great Britain. They carry 15-inch guns. The photograph shows the vessel as she steamed into Philadelphia. Captain Roger Welles is commander of the vessel, and Lieutenant Commander Adolphus Andrews is a navigating officer."

German Torpedo Boats are Engaged By British Destroyers — German Squadron is Sighted in the North Sea.

Paris, May 10.—(By United Press) —A slackening in the German bombardment of French positions north west of Verdun was reported in today's official statement from the war office. East of the Meuse and in the Woevre there was only intermittent bombardment during the night.

The only infantry fighting in the Vosges region occurred in Vocourt where there were intermittent grenade struggles. In the upper Alsace, a German attack of French positions at Hirzbich was repulsed.

More than 700,000 German soldiers have been killed to date, 751,310 wounded and 231,982 are prisoners or missing according to a press bur au announcement today based upon official German casualty list. The losses did not include those sustained in naval engagements or among the colonial forces.

Berlin, May 10.—Two German torpedo boats reconnoitering off the Belgian coast north of Ostende were engaged by five English destroyers, the admiralty announced today. One of the enemy destroyers was badly damaged by German fire. The torpedo boats returned unharmed.

German troops continued their successes northwest of Verdun, having driven the French further back southwest of hill 301, it was officially announced this afternoon. The Germans have extended their positions to the hill itself.

This will be a welcome addition to the train, as considerable trouble was experienced last year by some of the cars on account of the absence of an expert to look into minor troubles.

The general committee has decided that there will be no individual advertising done by members of the party. The advertising committee has been charged with the preparation of a suitable souvenir for distribution all along the line, which will take the place of individual advertising matter.

Tentative dates for the tour have been fixed, June 22 and 23 being considered by the committees as best suited to the convenience of the members of the party. The date will be definitely fixed at the next meeting of the general committee.

CYMRIC WAS SUNK WITHOUT WARNING CONSUL REP[ORTS]

Strong Indication Government Will take no Action in Sinking of Cymric

Authoritatively Stated That No Americans Were on Board—Did Not Attempt to Escape.

London, May 10. —(By United Press)— American Consul Frost at Queenstown today wired confirmation of press reports that the White Star liner Cymric, torpedoed Monday afternoon with a loss of five lives, was attacked without warning. He also confirmed the statement that there were no Americans aboard the Cymric and that she was not armed.

It was authoritatively stated that the Cymric was not in admiralty service. As an ordinary merchantman she was entitled to all the immunity granted by Germany in her reply to the American note. Frost's dispatches all agree that the Cymric did not attempt to escape. Frost's message stated positively that there were no Americans on the ship.

Teh official dispatch to the state department follows: "No Americans on the Cymric. Five British lives lost. No warning by submarine. No torpedo seen after explosion. Cymric unarmed. Weather rather rough. Crew in open boats 1:30 to [illegible] May 8th. Cymric sank [illegible] morning."

Crab-apple and cherry blossoms are out in abundance. Haven't you been out to see them?

The price of paper continues to soar. Is it possible that our correspondence with Germany has had anything to do with it?

Have you placed your order for extra copies of the "Get Acquainted" edition of the Progress? It will be of sixty or eighty pages, profusely illustrated, and filled with interesting information about the county in which you live. The price will be ten cents the copy, mailed free to any address.

THE DUST-MAKER AGAIN.

Our old friend the dust-maker was abroad again today. He swept the streets, and the wind carried the filth from his broom into the stores to settle on the things some of us will eat for breakfast. Will we ever learn that it is cheaper and more effective to WASH the streets EVERY day than it is to piddle around trying to dry-sweep them?

USE YOUR OWN BRAIN.

The main trouble with suffrage is that so large a number of voters wait for someone else to tell them how to vote. Use your own brain. And if you haven't one that works often enough and intelligently enough to guide you, have the good sense not to follow the lead of someone whose interest in the election is not limited to a desire to see the best man win. Don't vote.

THE PORCUPINE.

There is no softening of the porcupine's quills when the frame that supports them becomes weakened. They bristle just as fiercely, and resist just as forcibly the attacks of the enemy. That is why Germany is enabled to talk boldly of dictating terms of peace. The fringe of Germany that we can see and know is one of big guns and bayonets which show no signs of weakening. What is going on in the land that sustains them can only be conjectured. No word of the economic problems of the country can be learned, and it would be like Germany to fall completely to pieces behind her barrier of steel before admitting the inevitable.

AN IMMEDIATE TEST.

American consular officials report that the Cymric was torpedoed without warning, and that five of her crew were killed in the engine room of the vessel. President Wilson demanded that Germany immediately dclare and effect such changes in her submarine warfare as would prevent such tragedies. The Kaiser, replying to the note which will doubtless be addressed to his government in this case, is certain to say that the commander of the submarine which torpedoed the Cymric was operating far from his base, and had not learned of the German admirality's modification of the orders under which he operated. Then will ensue another series of notes, and Germany will laugh in her sleeve.

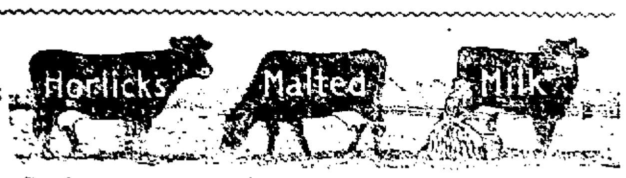

GOOD ROADS PLAN NEEDED.

Other counties throughout the state are planning for Good Roads Day, working out a definite scheme which will organize most effectually the various working units which will respond to the call for better highways.

Clarion, Beaver, Erie, Huntingdon, Mercer, Northumberland, and dozens of others have their "Good Roads Associations" with organization in each township and borough, full cooperation between township, borough and county authorities with the groups formed to put the roads in shape.

Such an organization is needed here. Clearfield County has miles of roads to be cared for, and her funds for road work are limited. There is even greater need here for organization than in some of the counties mentioned.

Will some one step forward with the initial move? The time is short, and something must be done to bring out a full force of workers on May 25.

Is a long stroke motor [illegible] turning over faster [illegible] stroke?

No, not so fast [illegible] piston speed in [illegible] revolutions per minute.

Can you give me the different methods of testing the [illegible] the spark plugs in [illegible] uniform explosions, and if there is [illegible] variation owing to the strength [illegible] of the spark?

The operation of the spark plug can be readily determined by [illegible] necessary to [illegible] plug points at the [illegible] part, which [illegible] fourth and one thirty-second [illegible] magneto use, and [illegible] proximate adjustment [illegible] the plug from the cylinder [illegible] the engine on the other [illegible] color and intensity of the spark [illegible] jumps across the gap of the plug [illegible] moved from the cylinder [illegible] view to its performance [illegible] charge. The spark may vary all the way from a thin, fine line to a thick [illegible] of flame. Something between [illegible] o, or a hot blue spark is most [illegible] ed.

[illegible] engine refuses to respond [illegible] is down on too sudden and to opening of the throttle. Can you [illegible] the cause of this?

The choking action of which you speak is generally due to too rich a mixture. Properly designed motors, unless improperly timed, do not suffer from defective suction.

Will you kindly inform me what is the matter with the electric lighting and starting system of my car? The ammeter charges as long as I keep the car running above ten or twelve miles per hour, but when I slow down to less than that for a little while and then speed up to even twenty-five miles per hour the ammeter does not indicate charging, but remains at zero. Then if the engine is stopped and started again the ammeter continues to charge as before. The car has been run 650 miles, and the test of the specific gravity of the storage battery is about 1,250.

It is possible that all of the contacts are not tight and that they occasionally make poor contacts de[illegible] ing the output due to [illegible] distance. It is also found [illegible] the commutator [illegible] trouble similar to yours [illegible] to the fact that at low speed [illegible] will sufficiently insulate [illegible] from the commutator [illegible] generator just [illegible] and is producing [illegible] oil will prevent a circuit so the output is zero. At times when running at high speed the brushes [illegible] able to touch the commutator, allowing the fields to become saturated and the output normal. It is also possible that the ammeter needle may be sticking, and the vibration of the car at high speeds is sufficient to loosen it.

What would cause a grinding noise in the differential of my car when coasting? It is all right when pulling.

The only cause of a grinding noise in a differential would be, first, a serious misalignment or maladjustment of the two gears, and, second, a foreign substance in the gear case. Any such noise as this is more apparent when the car is coasting ahead of the motor as this allows the rear wheels to take up the back lash in the driving gears. You should take the car to a first class garage, where a mechanic can take up the play and put the gears in proper mesh.

What is meant by a cast steel gear, drop forged? Are there vanadium gears in use on many cars, and which of the three are the best, and which costs the manufacturer the most to produce?

A cast steel gear is one in which the gear is a steel casting. A drop forged gear is one in which it is a forging. Vanadium steel gears are used on a few cars, but where alloy steel is used nickel is employed to a much larger extent. The alloy steels are the most costly. Forging is the method generally carried out in all cases, the forging being a blank and the teeth afterward cut upon it.

Is a cut-out beneficial to a car, and, if so, why?

With most cars that have been run for some time the muffler has become clogged with carbon to a certain extent. This prevents the rapid exit and expansion of the exhaust gas, which in turn causes back pressure. Back pressure reduces the effective pressure of the explosion and consequently cuts down the power of the motor. Obviously, when the gas is permitted to exhaust directly to the air through the cut-out the back pressure is minimized and the power thus increased.

With certain properly designed types of mufflers tests have shown actual decrease in power when the muffler and exhaust pipe were removed. The difference in this case is attributed to an ejector defect.

Both the production of a loud, snappy report and the reduction of back pressure depend on the rapid expansion of the exhaust gas. That means, open the exhaust pipe as wide as possible as close to the motor as possible and with as direct a shoot from the valves as you can.

Can one increase the size of the carburetor on [illegible] ord and same [illegible] the speed, or would it [illegible]

[illegible] on the motor. Usually [illegible] necessary to increase the manifold [illegible] the carburetor size is in [illegible] best results.

[illegible] long given advance of the [illegible] the top of the sector cuts [illegible]

[illegible] due to several causes. [illegible] has magneto ignition it [illegible] be due to weak magnets, or it [illegible] caused by a weak coil whether you have magneto or battery ignition. The distributor might be out of time with the specifications of the engine. Possibly the gears are too far advanced when the spark lever is retarded or in normal position, so that when the lever is brought way up on the quadrant it puts the ignition entirely off. However, it is seldom or ever that the running conditions require the spark lever being brought to the top of the quadrant or to the extreme opposite end to the position it is in when the spark is fully retarded. Usually, when the spark lever is fully retarded at the bottom of the quadrant, the best running position is three-quarters of the way up.

How does the current generated by a dynamo differ from that produced by a magneto?

The current generated by a dynamo of the type used in automobile practice is direct, whereas with a magneto it is alternating.

Is it better to put the top of a car up or leave it down when storing the car?

Standing for a long period in a folded condition the top is apt to get creased and damaged, so when storing the car it is advisable to put the top up, thus allowing it to remain in smooth shape against cracking or creasing of the material. Besides this, the top will catch much of the dust which would ordinarily settle on the upholstery. Still better for the upholstery would be a sheet or tarpaulin spread over it. This is especially true if the upholstery is cloth or any cloth preparation. Dust of several months is not easy to get out of the weave, and it never does any fabric any good. Even in the folds of the leather it is hard to remove.

How may a squeak in a clutch brake be remedied?

Put a little neatsfoot oil on it. When the car is new this little brake sometimes squeaks until the leather gets a glaze, when it should operate satisfactorily.

What are the cubical contents of the compression chamber for a five inch bore by seven inch stroke motor above the piston when it is on top dead center, to get eighty-five pounds compression cold, assuming that the inlet closes thirty degrees past bottom dead center?

The displacement of one cylinder of a 5 by 7 motor is 137.5 cubic inches. According to the accepted tabulations, in order to obtain eighty-five pounds compression the cylinder clearance should be about 23 per cent of the piston displacement, figuring low. With this percentage the volume of the compression space would be 31.625 cubic inches.

The above clearance is taken as the minimum. Under maximum conditions of tightness, etc., to obtain eighty-five pounds per square inch compression the cylinder clearance can be 35 per cent of the piston displacement. All the pressures given above are in pounds per square inch absolute.

Does starting the engine of an automobile on compression affect the engine in any way?

This method of starting will not harm the motor, although at one time its effects were seriously considered. The general consensus of opinion is that the explosion is so much weaker than the ordinary one that no harm could possibly result.

When I stop my engine with the switch I have no trouble in starting it, but when I stall the engine or kill it I have to crank and spin it around a great deal before I can get it started again. What can be the trouble and how can it be remedied?

The fact that your motor acts in the way you describe should not disturb you, but, on the other hand, is an indication that the carburetor is adjusted excellently for the purpose of securing maximum efficiency. You could easily [illegible] motor [illegible] ning by giving the [illegible] adjustment to provide a richer mixture.

The reason that the motor acts as it does is because when you stop the motor on the switch it has a chance to rotate one or two times and thus draw in a fresh charge of gasoline into the combustion chambers. When the motor is stalled or killed it is stopped instantly, with the result that the gas remaining in the cylinders is dead and does not possess the power to explode. Should the carburetor be so adjusted that a much richer mixture would be supplied the influence of the inert gases in the cylinder would be overcome and the motor would fire immediately whether it had been stopped from stalling or for any other reason. This condition being true shows that the carburetor must be adjusted for as fine a mixture as is possible for good running. It is assumed that the motor acts well while running, since you do not state that any other condition exists. If, however, you notice that the motor is apt to sputter and flash back when the throttle is opened quickly it would be well to give a slightly richer adjustment on the carburetor. Unless there is some indication that the adjustment is not correct it would be better for you to leave the motor as it is and be careful in driving never to stall the motor.

What is the temperature inside of a motor [illegible] cylinder at the time of the explosion?

[illegible]

What is meant by three point suspension, and of what advantage is it?

Three point suspension means the suspension of the power plant at three points making a triangular layout. The advantage is that twisting of the frame or twisting of the side members has a minimum tendency to impose strains on the motor supports.

FOR GIGANTIC CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL.

Atlanta, Ga., May 10.—Stone Mountain, the great granite pile near Atlanta which is to be converted into a permanent memorial to the Confederacy, was formally dedicated to the cause today. Delegations representing the United Confederate Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy and various affiliated societies, journeyed to the mountain, a distance of about 16 miles from this city, and with interesting ceremonies raised the Confederate colors over the huge eminence where the colossal memorial is to be carved out of the solid granite face of the mountain. Actual work on the memorial is to begin at an early date under the direction of Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor engaged for the task by the Stone Mountain Memorial Association. On the face of the mountain, 3000 feet across and 1000 feet in height, will be depicted the story of the "lost cause" in everlasting figure of granite. The prospective plan is to transform the solid stone into a hall with columns hewn from the face of the mountain without any resort to the builder's method of placing stone on stone. The facade will have three colossal figures, the central one being General Robert E. Lee, who will be flanked by "Stonewall" Jackson and Joseph Johnston. Two wings of an army in action will come from the east and the west, behind the two figures, making a splendid array of horse and foot soldiers. Many years of work and an estimated expenditure of not less than $2,000,000 will be required to complete the project.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great Europecan War Zone

The recent debarkation of Russian troops at Marseilles after a remarkable voyage at first reported to have begun at Archangel, the port on the White sea which is supposed to have been ice-bound at the time when the expedition weighed anchor, emphasizes the fact that the present war in Europe presented greater problems in the transportation of troops than any other conflict in history. The National Geographic society, in a bulletin issued from its headquarters in Washington today gives some striking summaries of distances traveled. The bulletin says:

"The manner in which troops have been transported from the four corners of the earth to be hurled into battle on the fields of France, Serbia, Mesopotamia and Gallipoli quickens the imagination and commands the admiration of the observer as no similar series of military enterprises in world history. While lacking the spectacular elements of Caesar's voyage to Britain; of Hannibal's conquest of the Alps; of the march of the 10,000 Greeks imortalized in Xenophon's Anabasis; of the amazing march of Napoleon's legions into the heart of Russia and their calamtous retreat before 'the infantry of the snow and the cavalry of the wild blast,' the problems involved in bringing millions of fighting men across vast ocean wastes, during the last eighteen months, are almost staggering in their complexity.

"Because her colonies are far more widely scattered and because her command of the high seas has carried with it greater responsibilities in this direction, England has been the chief long-distance carrier of human food for the mighty maw of the modern god of war. She has brought her South African colonials from Cape Town to Calais; her troopships have semi-circled the globe, a distance of nearly 11,000 miles, to bring Australians from Melbourne to Marseilles by way of the Suez; her Ghurkas have been brought from Bombay to Bruges; tion for troops bound for Salonika, her Indian garrisons from Calcutta to Constantinople; her Canadians from Montreal to the Marne, and her volunteers from New Zealand to Salonika. From her own shores, in the meantime, there has gone forth a stream of Scotch, Irish and British troops to France, to Serbia, to Gallipoli to Suez and to Aden. The distance between these many points aggregate more than 50,000 miles equal to twice the circumference of the earth. Traveling at the speed which it maintained for a single day during its voyage in 1911, when a new record for trans-Atlantic speed was established, the Mauretania would require two and a half months to complete the aggregate voyage.

"France, too, has sent her soldiers thousands of miles by sea, Marseilles being the chief port of embarka- Gallipoli, Albania, and Serbia, while her Turcos, brought from colonial Algeria, have served to swell the ranks of the men under General Joffre in Northern France.

"A voyage of the Russians from Archangel to Marseilles would not be a distance record for this war. If her transports were to take the shortest course, through the English channel, the trip would be less than 4,500 miles, while the arc of the cricle described beyond the British Islse, in order to avoid the German submarines would make the actual length of such a voyage a matter of speculation. Whatever the distance traveled however, it would seem puny compared with the historic voyage of Rozhestvenski's fleet from Libau on the Baltic, around the Cape of Good Hope to the Straits of Tsushima, during the Russo-Japanese war, a trip of more than 15,000 miles.

"Less fraught with danger but more than twice as long as the Archangel-Marseilles route, has been the voyage of the Russian troops who landed in France a few weeks ago from Dalmy, the Manchurian port. By way of the Suez Canal, this is a 10,000 mile trip."

HE SHOWED THAT SURGEON'S KNIFE LEFT BAD SCAR

Goebel Suffered Great Pain Which Availed Him Nothing Toward Recovery

There are scores of residents of Erie who are familiar with the conditions of Louis Goebel, the well-known carpenter and all have sympathized sincerely with him in his sufferings.

Mr. Goebel exhibited an ugly cross-like scar on the outer surface of his abdomen.

"That is what the surgeons did for me. I was in the hospital for three months. They thought I had gall stones in my bladder, and I was told that the inflammation substances had overflowed to my stomach.

"They operated on me. Yes, sir, cut me open, and after all of that suffering I had no results from the operation.

"I have been unable to work for a long time. Nearly everybody who knows me, knows that I am telling the gospel truth. Yes sir, this Tanlac has done what the knife couldn't do for me. I have used one single bottle of Tanlac and I feel like a new man. I am improving every day, getting my strength back. I expect to continue taking this Tanlac and I'm going back to work soon. This Tanlac has done more for me than everything else combined, and I have taken, I guess barrels of medicine. It's certainly like a miracle."

Tanlac is now sold in Clearfield exclusively by Woodward & McPherson where the premier preparation can now be had.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS

Dr. Schaeffer in a recent letter to Superintendents calls attention to Section 1301 Article 13 of the school code of 1911, which reads as follows:

"Every teacher in the public schools of this commonwealth must hold a provisional, professional or state certificate, which shall set forth the branches which its holder is entitled to teach, and which shall be issued as herein provided; but no teacher shall teach in any public school in this Commonwealth, any branch which he has not been properly certificated to teach."

The following teachers' examinations will be held throughout the county:

Blue Ball, Thursday, June 1.
Ansonville, Friday, June 2.
Curwensville, Saturday, June 3.
Luthersburg, Monday, June 5.
Morrisdale, Wednesday, June 7.

Clearfield, Wednesday, June 28.
Penfield, Friday, June 30.
Examinations begin at 9:00 a. m.

Every teacher employed to teach in the public schools of this Commonwealth must be a person of good moral character, and must be at least eighteen years of age. Applicants attending summer schools should take the examination at the close of their schools. Persons attending school outside the county may enter the class most convenient for them. For provisional certificates the examination on Pedagogy will be based on Lincoln's "Everyday Pedagogy" and the Pennsylvania state course of study.

Each applicant on entering the class will give the superintendent a self-addressed, stamped envelope accompanied with the recommendation as to his or her moral character.

Teachers whose certificates average 1 1-4 and who present testimonials from their boards certifying that they have taught two successful terms of school are eligible to enter the professional examination. Two books from a list suggested by the state superintendent will be required in Pedagogy.

A professional spirit, progressive scholarship and the ability to teach effectively are necessary qualifications to merit a Professional certificate.

County Superintendent.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

A Newspaper Is Known By The Company It Keeps

That is why the Progress is just a wee bit "stuck up," as it were, for it keeps the best company of any newspaper printed in this section of the country.

In ninety per cent. of the homes in Clearfield it is a daily visitor. It is welcomed because it does its very level best to be a REAL newspaper, giving the news fairly and impartially, and all of the news it can get.

Outside of Clearfield the Progress is widely read in the best homes. No other daily newspaper in Central Pennsylvania has a larger circulation, population considered.

Here are some of the things that make the Progress popular:

Complete United Press Telegraph Reports of State, National and International Happenings.

Editorial discussion of current events which is commanding attention in the press press of the state, and making a permanent place for itself at home.

News illustrations of important happenings at home and abroad.

Liberal treatment of news happenings.

Country-wide correspondence, giving the home news to thousands of people in Clearfield county.

Clean print—typographical excellence—literary quality.

The Progress wants its friends to visit its home. The most modern newspaper plant in this section of the State is open to their inspection.

AN OPEN LETTER

Clearfield, Pa., May 8, 1916.

To the People of Clearfield County:

I am a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania. It will be impossible for me to make a personal canvass. My business engagements prevent that. I must, therefore, depend upon the public press and private correspondence to place my candidacy before the people.

It appears from the public press that there is now being waged a factional war in the Republican party of the state for control of the Republican organization. It is natural that there should be an effort to involve candidates for the legislature in this strife and it is natural to expect that some may seek to brand me as a Brumbaugh candidate or a Penrose candidate or as the candidate of this or that local faction or leader. To place myself squarely upon record as to these matters is one of the subjects of this letter.

The position of Representative in the legislature is really not a political position. There surely is not or ought not to be any politics, least of all factional politics, in the questions of taxation, revenue, roads, schools and public charities; and these are the questions with which our state law makers chiefly have to deal. So far as I am personally concerned, I refuse to go or become the candidate of any faction, class, leader or politician, state or local. I refuse to be a Brumbaugh candidate, a Penrose candidate, or either before or after election to stand or be known as the distinctive representative of any class, faction or clique, whether industrial, social, church or political. I must go to Harrisburg untrammeled and unfettered, or I do not care to go at all. I must stand in the halls of the legislature as representative of every citizen, no matter how humble, or I cannot stand at all.

I claim no particular righteousness in making this statemnt. I should be unfit to be the representative of the people if I were owned or controled by only a portion of the people.

If any legislator must use the brains of a Brumbaugh or a Penrose in order that he may know how to vote, it is a clear confession that he has not enough of his own.

If, despite this statement, any one shall state publicly or privately that I am not my own and only "boss," or shall attempt to brand me with his own or another's brand, let such man be immediately consigned by all decent citizens to the Ananias club where he belongs.

I have spoken thus plainly because in the past we have had too many representatives at Harrisburg known as Vare men, McNichol men, or Oliver, or Magee, or Penrose, or Brumbaugh men—men who are at Harrisburg to do the will and work for the interests of the individual or class who own them, and who have been unmindful of the interests of the great body of the people.

These legislators have through the years been imposing great and unnecessary burdens upon the people offices and positions, state and county have been multiplied; salaries, fees and perquisites have been enlarged again and again; until it can now be said of the state as the immortal Jefferson said of the king, that it "has erected a multitude of new offices and sent hither a swarm of officers to harass our people and eat out our substance." The cost of state government has quadrupled in a generation. The cost of county government has been keeping pace. Each legislative session finds its quota of new burdens imposed upon the business man, the farmer, the property holder, and the citizen generally.

Meanwhile the great state of Pennsylvania is unable to meet her just obligations. She cannot and does not provide in any adequate manner for her helpless, dependent insane and feeble minded. Many of these are kept in jails and poor houses without proper attendance. Charity has been commercialized in the halls of your legislature and appropriations to hospitals and schools have been used to reward or punish for political activities.

There will come a time in Pennsylvania when the people will no longer inquire of the legislative candidate, whose are you, but who are you? When men will no longer be elected to represent a man or a class, but the whole people. That time will come when the increasing burdens imposed by class and factional legislation shall become unbearable.

If I, as an individual, can aid in restoration to the people of full representative government, so that all of the people and not a part only shall have representation in the halls of legislation, I shall have accomplished my purpose.

If there be any man who, [illegible] the call of partisanship or class prejudice, will join with me in the endeavor to abolish the useless offices and commissions now burdening the people; reduce the extravagant salaries now paid to favorite office holders [illegible] by the [illegible] of taxation and see that legislation that is enacted is in the interest of all the people I shall welcome his support.

Don't Crowd Your Ad.

By BREEN.

Some advertisers make the mistake of trying to crowd a page of type into a few inches.

Display your ad. Make it catchy.

If you buy a few inches in a newspaper don't try to make them carry a couple of hundred words. Newspaper readers will not wear strong glasses to read small type.

When you decide to advertise a certain article pick out its best points. Then briefly tell what they are. Emphasize in big type.

Then you'll get results.

MARKET STREET BOYS WIN FROM EAST END—SCORE 11-10

Game Was Very Exciting As Teams Were Evenly Matched.

The Market street seventh grade defeated the East End seventh grade yesterday afternoon in an exciting game by a score of 11-10. The teams were evenly matched and the victory was not certain at any time until the last inning. The young boys showed much skill and made many stellar plays.

Market street went to the bat first; Glenn Ardery, the first man up was walked. Robert Wright knocked a three base hit bringing in Ardary for the first run. At the end of the first inning the score was 4-2 in Market street's favor but the lead was soon overcome by the East End team who scored six runs in the third. Market street soon tied the score which was even until the last inning. Neff did some fine fielding in right field and was the star of the game.

President's Reply is Suitable to Germany, Berlin Paper States

Kaiser Formally Admits German Submarine Torpedoed Liner Sussex Without Giving Warning

ASSURES PUNISHMENT OF COMMANDER

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 10.—(By United Press)—President Wilson's brief reply accepting Germany's submarine concessions but rejecting the condition with reference to England, will prove suitable to Germany, the Lokal Anzeiger stated today.

The Lokal Anzeiger did not have the exact contents of the latest communication from Washington before it but was guided by apparently reliable reports of its contents. The Berlin newspapers took the view that President Wilson laid oto much stress on the alleged condition attached to the German concession but added significantly that President Wilson's answer is "what iwas epxected."

48 MORE BODIES TO BE EXHUMED AT ARCHER HOME

Authorities Expect to Find Home A "Murder Home."

Hartford, Conn., May 10—(By United Press)— Fresh revelations today in the case of Mrs. Amy Archer-Gilligan, proprietor of the Archer home for elderly people at Windsor, accused of poisoning Franklin R. Andrews, an inmate, made probable the exhumation of the bodies of 48 persons who have died there in five years.

Though the authorities withheld direct statement it was learned that they would not be surprised to find the home a "murder home" that compared with the Belle Gunnes murder farm in Indiana. Since the discovery relatives of four inmaets have removed them from the home and others are likely to follow.

Three of the persons who had paid $1,000 cash for the care of three inmates who died since 1911, filed attachments on the home expecting their money back if the inmates were poisoned. Authorities believe they can see the reason for the poisoning by the fact that Mrs. Gilligan would take a person into the home on payment of $1,000 for their keeping the rest of their lives and the more quickly death came the greater her profits .

JUDGE ASKS JURY TO INDICT RIOT LEADERS

Pittsburgh, May 10.—(By United Press)—Judge Ambrose Reid in charging the May grand jury today told that body to fully investigate the fatal Braddock riot of May 2nd and return indictment against its "instigators" and "those who did the rioting." The judge told them that they might never again have such a "sacred duty to perform." He advised them not to deal in any way with charges of "accessory without the fact of murder" upon which several of the rioters arrested were held, but to ascertain who prompted those under arrest to do violence. Some of the mob's leaders were referred to by the judge as "unfortunate" who were urged to endanger life and inflamed to destroy property while they were intoxicated.

ROBERT J. BENDER

Washington, May 10. — Germany has made good on the first promise in her note accepting American position in the submarine issue, Ambassador Gerard today cabled the state department that the Kaiser has formally admitted a German submarine attacked the channel packet Sussex.

The formal admission to this government Gerard's cable said, is now on its way to Washington. It was not said at the state department whether the German communication would contain anything but acceptance of responsibility for the attack. It was learned later, however, that if the present message does not contain assurances of reparation and ample punishment of the submarine commander, another including such information will be dispatched to Secretary Lansing.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 10, 1916.

Crab-apple and cherry blossoms are out in abundance. Haven't you been out to see them?

The price of paper continues to soar. Is it possible that our correspondence with Germany has had anything to do with it?

Have you placed your order for extra copies of the "Get Acquainted" edition of the Progress? It will be of sixty or eighty pages, profusely illustrated, and filled with interesting information about the county in which you live. The price will be ten cents the copy, mailed free to any address.

THE DUST-MAKER AGAIN.

Our old friend the dust-maker was abroad again today. He swept the streets, and the wind carried the filth from his broom into the stores to settle on the things some of us will eat for breakfast. Will we ever learn that it is cheaper and more effective to WASH the streets EVERY day than it is to piddle around trying to dry-sweep them?

USE YOUR OWN BRAIN.

The main trouble with suffrage is that so large a number of voters wait for someone else to tell them how to vote. Use your own brain. And if you haven't one that works often enough and intelligently enough to guide you, have the good sense not to follow the lead of someone whose interest in the election is not limited to a desire to see the best man win. Don't vote.

THE PORCUPINE.

There is no softening of the porcupine's quills when the frame that supports them becomes weakened. They bristle just as fiercely, and resist just as forcibly the attacks of the enemy. That is why Germany is enabled to talk boldly of dictating terms of peace. The fringe of Germany that we can see and know is one of big guns and bayonets which show no signs of weakening. What is going on in the land that sustains them can only be conjectured. No word of the economic problems of the country can be learned, and it would be like Germany to fall completely to pieces behind her barrier of steel before admitting the inevitable.

AN IMMEDIATE TEST.

American consular officials report that the Cymric was torpedoed without warning, and that five of her crew were killed in the engine room of the vessel. President Wilson demanded that Germany immediately dclare and effect such changes in her submarine warfare as would prevent such tragedies. The Kaiser, replying to the note which will doubtless be addressed to his government in this case, is certain to say that the commander of the submarine which torpedoed the Cymric was operating far from his base, and had not learned of the German admirality's modification of the orders under which he operated. Then will ensue another series of notes, and Germany will laugh in her sleeve.

GOOD ROADS PLAN NEEDED.

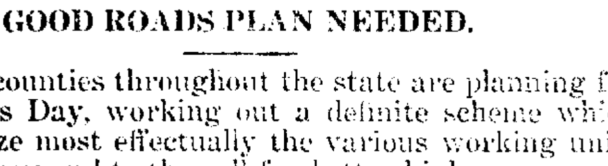

Other counties throughout the state are planning for Good Roads Day, working out a definite scheme which will organize most effectually the various working units which will respond to the call for better highways.

Clarion, Beaver, Erie, Huntingdon, Mercer, Northumberland, and dozens of others have their "Good Roads Associations" with organization in each township and borough, full cooperation between township, borough and county authorities with the groups formed to put the roads in shape.

Such an organization is needed here. Clearfield County has miles of roads to be cared for, and her funds for road work are limited. There is even greater need here for organization than in some of the counties mentioned.

Will some one step forward with the initial move? The time is short, and something must be done to bring out a full force of workers on May 25.

LA TENA'S SHOWS DRAW BIG CROWDS

Large crowds featured both afternoon and night performances of La Tena's big three-ring wild animal circus at Maplewood fair grounds Thursday. All who attended it seemed to be satisfied that the production had been most meritorious had been given them in the many varied and interesting feature acts now with the show. From start to finish the show interested and entertained, as well as instructed the large crowd present in all the wild animal life, concerning which so many of us have to depend upon books and pictures for our only information. A most interesting thing to notice was the interest of all, young and old, in the many different acts which seemed to hold the attention of the aged patriarch with the same facility as that of the children, many of whom were attending their first show.

My engine refuses to respond ... es down on too sudden and to opening of the throttle. Can you state the cause of this?

The choking action of which you speak is generally due to too rich a mixture. Properly designed motors, unless improperly timed, do not suffer from defective suction.

Will you kindly inform me what is the matter with the electric lighting and starting system of my car? The ammeter charges as long as I keep the car running above ten or twelve miles per hour, but when I slow down to less than that for a little while and then speed up to even twenty-five miles per hour the ammeter does not indicate charging, but remains at zero. Then if the engine is stopped and started again the ammeter continues to charge as before. The car has been run 650 miles, and the test of the specific gravity of the storage battery is about 1,250.

What would cause a grinding noise in the differential of my car when starting? It is all right when pulling.

Usually cause of a grinding noise in ... differential would be, first, a serious misalignment or maladjustment of the two gears, and, second, a foreign substance in the gear case. Any such noise as this is more apparent when the car is coasting ahead of the motor as this allows the rear wheels to take up the back lash in the driving gears. You should take the car to a first class garage, where a mechanic can take up the play and put the gears in proper mesh.

What is meant by a cast steel gear, a drop forged? Are there vanadium gears in use on many cars, and which of the three are the best, and which costs the manufacturer the most to produce?

A cast steel gear is one in which the gear is a steel casting. A drop forged gear is one in which it is a forging. Vanadium steel gears are used on a few cars, but where alloy steel is used nickel is employed to a much larger extent. The alloy steels are the most costly. Forging is the method generally carried out in all cases, the forging being a blank and the teeth afterward cut upon it.

Is a cut-out beneficial to a car, and, if so, why?

With most cars that have been run for some time the muffler has become clogged with carbon to a certain extent. This prevents the rapid exit and expansion of the exhaust gas, which in turn causes back pressure. Back pressure reduces the effective pressure of the explosion and consequently cuts down the power of the motor. Obviously, when the gas is permitted to exhaust directly to the air through the cut-out the back pressure is minimized and the power thus increased.

With certain properly designed types of mufflers tests have shown actual decrease in power when the muffler and exhaust pipe were removed. The difference in this case is attributed to an ejector defect.

Both the production of a loud, snappy report and the reduction of back pressure depend on the rapid expansion of the exhaust gas. That means, open the exhaust pipe as wide as possible as close to the motor as possible and with as direct a shoot from the valves as you can.

The distributor might be out of time with the specifications of the engine. Possibly the gears are too far advanced when the spark lever is retarded or in normal position, so that when the lever is brought way up on the quadrant it puts the ignition entirely off. However, it is seldom or ever that the running conditions require the spark lever being brought to the top of the quadrant or to the extreme opposite end to the position it is in when the spark is fully retarded. Usually, when the spark lever is fully retarded at the bottom of the quadrant, the best running position is three-quarters of the way up.

How does the current generated by a dynamo differ from that produced by a magneto?

The current generated by a dynamo of the type used in automobile practice is direct, whereas with a magneto it is alternating.

Is it better to put the top of a car up or leave it down when storing the car?

Standing for a long period in a folded condition the top is apt to get creased and damaged, so when storing the car it is advisable to put the top up, thus allowing it to remain in smooth shape against cracking or creasing of the material. Besides this, the top will catch much of the dust which would ordinarily settle on the upholstery. Still better for the upholstery would be a sheet or tarpaulin spread over it. This is especially true if the upholstery is cloth or any cloth preparation. Dust of several months is not easy to get out of the weave, and it never does any fabric any good. Even in the folds of the leather it is hard to remove.

How may a squeak in a clutch brake be remedied?

Put a little neatsfoot oil on it. When the car is new this little brake sometimes squeaks until the leather gets a glaze, when it should operate satisfactorily.

What are the cubical contents of the compression chamber for a five inch bore by seven inch stroke motor above the piston when it is on top dead center, to get eighty-five pounds compression cold, assuming that the inlet closes thirty degrees past bottom dead center?

The displacement of one cylinder of a 5 by 7 motor is 137.5 cubic inches. According to the accepted calculations, in order to obtain eighty-five pounds compression the cylinder clearance should be about 23 per cent of the piston displacement, figuring low. With this percentage the volume of the compression space would be 31.625 cubic inches.

The above clearance is taken as the minimum. Under maximum conditions of tightness, etc., to obtain eighty-five pounds per square inch compression the cylinder clearance can be 35 per cent of the piston displacement. All the pressures given above are in pounds per square inch absolute.

Does starting the engine of an automobile on compression affect the engine in any way?

This method of starting will not harm the motor, although at one time its effects were seriously considered. The general consensus of opinion is that the explosion is so much weaker than the ordinary one that no harm could possibly result.

When I stop my engine with the switch I have no trouble in starting it, but when I stall the engine or kill it I have to crank and spin it around a great deal before I can get it started again. What can be the trouble and how can it be remedied?

The fact that your motor acts in the way you describe should not disturb you, but, on the other hand, is an indication that the carburetor is adjusted excellently for the purpose of securing maximum efficiency. You could easily ... at once.

FOR GIGANTIC CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL.

Atlanta, Ga., May 10.—Stone Mountain, the great granite pile near Atlanta which is to be converted into a permanent memorial to the Confederacy, was formally dedicated to the cause today. Delegations representing the United Confederate Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy and various affiliated societies, journeyed to the mountain, a distance of about 16 miles from this city, and with interesting ceremonies raised the Confederate colors over the huge eminence where the colossal memorial is to be carved out of the solid granite face of the mountain. Actual work on the memorial is to begin at an early date under the direction of Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor engaged for the task by the Stone Mountain Memorial Association. On the face of the mountain, 3000 feet across and 1000 feet in height, will be depicted the story of the "lost cause" in everlasting figure of granite. The prospective plan is to transform the solid stone into a hall with columns hewn from the face of the mountain without any resort to the builder's method of placing stone on stone. The facade will have three colossal figures, the central one being General Robert E. Lee, who will be flanked by "Stonewall" Jackson and Joseph Johnston. Two wings of an army in action will come from the east and the west, behind the two figures, making a splendid array of horse and foot soldiers. Many years of work and an estimated expenditure of not less than $2,000,000 will be required to complete the project.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great Europecan War Zone

The recent debarkation of Russian troops at Marseilles after a remarkable voyage at first reported to have begun at Archangel, the port on the White sea which is supposed to have been ice-bound at the time when the expedition weighed anchor, emphasizes the fact that the present war in Europe presented greater problems in the transportation of troops than any other conflict in history. The National Geographic society, in a bulletin issued from its headquarters in Washington today gives some striking summaries of distances traveled. The bulletin says:

"The manner in which troops have been transported from the four corners of the earth to be hurled into battle on the fields of France, Serbia, Mesopotamia and Gallipoli quickens the imagination and commands the admiration of the observer as no similar series of military enterprises in world history. While lacking the spectacular elements of Caesar's voyage to Britain; of Hannibal's conquest of the Alps; of the march of the 10,000 Greeks imortalized in Xenophon's Anabasis; of the amazing march of Napoleon's legions into the heart of Russia and their calamtous retreat before 'the infantry of the snow and the cavalry of the wild blast,' the problems involved in bringing millions of fighting men across vast ocean wastes, during the last eighteen months, are almost staggering in their complexity.

"Because her colonies are far more widely scattered and because her command of the high seas has carried with it greater responsibilities in this direction, England has been the chief long-distance carrier of human food for the mighty maw of the modern god of war. She has brought her South African colonials from Cape Town to Calais; her troopships have semi-circled the globe, a distance of nearly 11,000 miles, to bring Australians from Melbourne to Marseilles by way of the Suez; her Ghurkas have been brought from Bombay to Bruges; tion for troops bound for Salonika, her Indian garrisons from Calcutta to Constantinople; her Canadians from Montreal to the Marne, and her volunteers from New Zealand to Salonika. From her own shores, in the meantime, there has gone forth a stream of Scotch, Irish and British troops to France, to Serbia, to Gallipoli to Suez and to Aden. The distance between these many points aggregate more than 50,000 miles equal to twice the circumference of the earth. Traveling at the speed which it maintained for a single day during its voyage in 1911, when a new record for trans-Atlantic speed was established, the Mauretania would require two and a half months to complete the aggregate voyage.

"France, too, has sent her soldiers thousands of miles by sea, Marseilles being the chief port of embarka- Gallipoli, Albania, and Serbia, while her Turcos, brought from colonial Al-geria, have served to swell the ranks of the men under General Joffre in Northern France.

"A voyage of the Russians from Archangel to Marseilles would not be a distance record for this war. If her transports were to take the shortest course, through the English channel, the trip would be less than 4,500 miles, while the arc of the cricle described beyond the British Islse, in order to avoid the German submarines would make the actual length of such a voyage a matter of speculation. Whatever the distance traveled however, it would seem puny compared with the historic voyage of Rozhestvenski's fleet from Libau on the Baltic, around the Cape of Good Hope to the Straits of Tsushima, during the Russo-Japanese war, a trip of more than 15,000 miles.

"Less fraught with danger but more than twice as long as the Archangel-Marseilles route, has been the voyage of the Russian troops who landed in France a few weeks ago from Dalmy, the Manchurian port. By way of the Suez Canal, this is a 10,000 mile trip."

HE SHOWED THAT SURGEON'S KNIFE LEFT BAD SCAR

Goebel Suffered Great Pain Which Availed Him Nothing Toward Recovery

There are scores of residents of Erie who are familiar with the conditions of Louis Goebel, the well-known carpenter and all have sympathized sincerely with him in his sufferings.

Mr. Goebel exhibited an ugly cross-like scar on the outer surface of his abdomen.

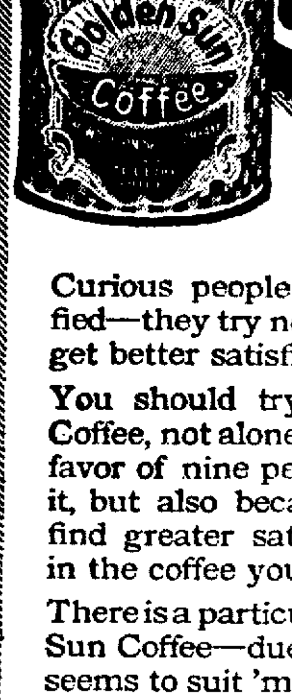

"That is what the surgeons did for me. I was in the hospital for three months. They thought I had gall stones in my bladder, and I was told that the inflammation substances had overflowed to my stomach.

"They operated on me. Yes, sir, cut me open, and after all of that suffering I had no results from the operation.

"I have been unable to work for a long time. Nearly everybody who knows me, knows that I am telling the gospel truth. Yes sir, this Tanlac has done what the knife couldn't do for me. I have used one single bottle of Tanlac and I feel like a new man. I am improving every day, getting my strength back. I expect to continue taking this Tanlac and I'm going back to work soon. This Tanlac has done more for me than everything else combined, and I have taken, I guess barrels of medicine. It's certainly like a miracle."

Tanlac is now sold in Clearfield exclusively by Woodward & McPherson where the premier preparation can now be had.

Be Curious

Curious people seldom stay satisfied—they try new things until they get better satisfied.

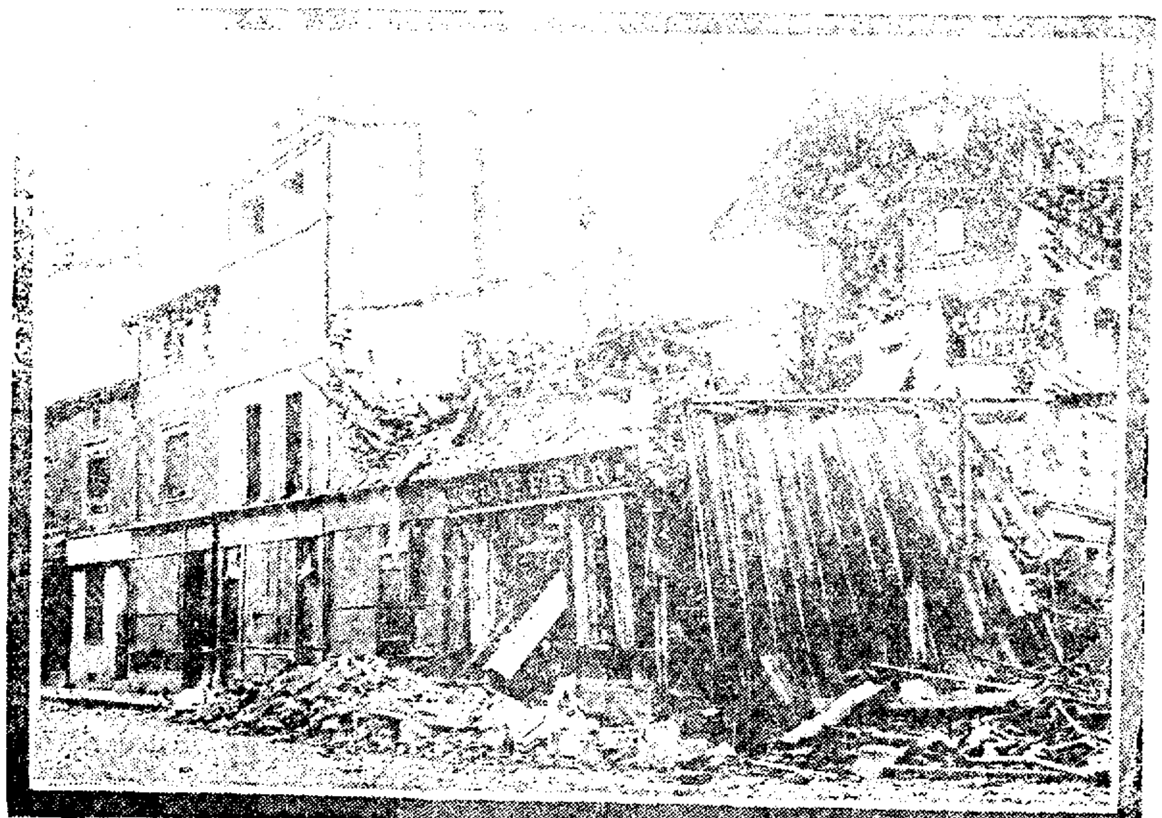

You should try this Golden Sun Coffee, not alone because it wins the favor of nine people in ten who try it, but also because you will likely find greater satisfaction in it than in the coffee you now use.

There is a particular flavor in Golden Sun Coffee—due to the blend—that seems to suit 'most everybody. But you must try it once to see; that's all we want you to do—try one pound and let your taste decide.

For provisional certificates the examination on Pedagogy will be based on Lincoln's "Everyday Pedagogy" and the Pennsylvania state course of study.

Each applicant on entering the class will give the superintendent a self-addressed, stamped envelope accompanied with the recommendation as to his or her moral character.

Teachers whose certificates average 1 1-4 and who present testimonials from their boards certifying that they have taught two successful terms of school are eligible to enter the professional examination. Two books from a list suggested by the state superintendent will be required in Pedagogy.

A professional spirit, progressive scholarship and the ability to teach effectively are necessary qualifications to merit a Professional certificate.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

AN OPEN LETTER

Clearfield, Pa., May 8, 1916.

To the People of Clearfield County:

I am a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania. It will be impossible for me to make a personal canvass. My business engagements prevent that. I must, therefore, depend upon the public press and private correspondence to place my candidacy before the people.

It appears from the public press that there is now being waged a factional war in the Republican party of the state for control of the Republican organization. It is natural that there should be an effort to involve candidates for the legislature in this strife and it is natural to expect that some may seek to brand me as a Brumbaugh candidate or a Penrose candidate or as the candidate of this or that local faction or leader. To place myself squarely upon record as to these matters is one of the subpects of this letter.

The position of Representative in the legislature is really not a political position. There surely is not or ought not to be any politics, least of all factional politics, in the questions of taxation, revenue, roads, schools and public charities; and these are the questions with which our state law makers chiefly have to deal. So far as I am personally concerned, I refuse to go or become the candidate of any faction, class, leader or politician, state or local. I refuse to be a Brumbaugh candidate, a Penrose candidate, or either before or after election to stand or be known as the distinctive representative of any class, faction or clique, whether industrial, social, church or political. I must go to Harrisburg untrammeled and unfettered, or I do not care to go at all. I must stand in the halls of the legislature as representative of every citizen, no matter how humble, or I cannot stand at an.

I claim no particular righteousness in making this statemnt. I should be unfit to be the representative of the people if I were owned or controled by only a portion of the people.

If any legislator must use the brains of a Brumbaugh or a Penrose in order that he may know how to vote, it is a clear confession that he has not enough of his own.

If, despite this statement, any one shall state publicly or privately that I am not my own and only "boss," or shall attempt to brand me with his own or another's brand, let such man be immediately consigned by all decent citizens to the Ananias club where he belongs.

I have spoken thus plainly because in the past we have had too many representatives at Harrisburg known as Vare men, McNichol men, or Oliver, or Magee, or Penrose, or Brumbaugh men—men who are at Harrisburg to do the will and work for the interests of the individual or class who own them, and who have been unmindful of the interests of the great body of the people.

These legislaters have through the years been imposing great and unnecessary burdens upon the people offices and positions, state and county have been multiplied; salaries, fees and perquisites have been enlarged again and again; until it can now be said of the state as the immortal Jefferson said of the king, that it "has erected a multitude of new offices and sent hither a swarm of officers to harass our people and eat out our substance." The cost of state government has quadrupled in a generation. The cost of county government has been keeping pace. Each legislative session finds its quota of new burdens imposed upon the business man, the farmer, the property holder, and the citizen generally.

Meanwhile the great state of Pennsylvania is unable to meet her just obligations. She cannot and does not provide in any adequate manner for her helpless, dependent insane and feeble minded. Many of these are kept in jails and poor houses without proper attendance. Charity has been commercialized in the halls of your legislature and appropriations to hospitals and schools have been used to reward or punish for political activities.

There will come a time in Pennsylvania when the people will no longer inquire of the legislative candidate, whose are you, but who are you? When men will no longer be elected to represent a man or a class, but the whole people. That time will come when the increasing burdens imposed by class and factional legislation shall become unbearable.

If I, as an individual, can aid in restoration to the people of full representative government, so that all of the people and not a part only shall have representation in the halls of legislation, I shall have accomplished my purpose.

If there be any man who, [illegible] the call of partisanship or [illegible] prejudice, will join with me in the endeavor to abolish the useless offices and commissions now burdening the people; reduce the extravagant salaries now paid to favorite office holders [illegible] the burdens of taxation and [illegible] that legislation that is enacted is in the interest of all the people I shall welcome his support.

Don't Crowd Your Ad.

By BREEN.

Some advertisers make the mistake of trying to crowd a page of typo into a few inches.

Display your ad. Make it catchy.

If you buy a few inches in a newspaper don't try to make them carry a couple of hundred words. Newspaper readers will not wear strong glasses to read small type.

When you decide to advertise a certain article pick out its best points. Then briefly tell what they are. Emphasize in big type.

Then you'll get results.

MARKET STREET BOYS WIN FROM EAST END—SCORE 11-10

Game Was Very Exciting As Teams Were Evenly Matched.

The Market street seventh grade defeated the East End seventh grade yesterday afternoon in an exciting game by a score of 11-10. The teams were evenly matched and the victory was not certain at any time until the last inning. The young boys showed much skill and made many stellar plays.

Market street went to the bat first; Glenn Ardery, the first man up was walked. Robert Wright knocked a three base hit bringing in Ardary for the first run. At the end of the first inning the score was 4-2 in Market street's favor but the lead was soon overcome by the East End team who scored six runs in the third. Market street soon tied the score which was even until the last inning. Neff did some fine fielding in right field and was the star of the game.
